Miss Stanley-Brown Wed in Garfield Home
CLEVELAND, March 25.—Miss Ruth Stanley-Brown, granddaughter of former President James A. Garfield, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stanley-Brown, of New Garden, L. I., was married today to Herbert Feis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Feis, of New York, at 12 o'clock in the evening at the home of the Garfield family in Mentor.

Miss Stanley-Brown chose to be married in the same room in which her father was married, June 18, 1881. On that same day, Harry A. Garfield, now president of Williams College, and Miss Belle Mason, of Cleveland, were wedded. They were among the guests.

Preceding the bride, who was escorted by her father, walked the maid of honor, Miss Margaret Stanley-Brown, her sister, Alfred Feis, of New York, and Mrs. Feis, who was graduated from Vassar in 1915, has become known in literary circles for her work on "The Diary." Mr. Feis is a Harvard man and during the war served with the Navy.

Bishop Sumner Says N. Y. Society Is Doing Penance
OREGON PRELATE DECLARES LEADERS ARE TIRED OF EXTREME DRESS, DANCING AND SMOKING
Special Dispatch to The Tribune
CHICAGO, March 25.—Society leaders in New York are tiring of extremes in dress and dancing and smoking by women and men, according to Bishop Walter T. Sumner, of Oregon, who returned from the East today on his way to the Coast. He said a prominent society woman told him that an orchestra company, controlling ninety orchestras, had issued orders that no jazz music is to be played.

It is folly for liquor men to charge up the present and to say that the alcohol has on them and they are not to drink until the effect is produced. Oregon is satisfied with prohibition, and we out there do not want beer or wine.

"In my trip East I have talked with leaders across the continent and I am firmly convinced that the pendulum toward looseness and unconventionality has gone its length and is swinging back."

The Ambassador of Belgium and Baroness de Cartier were hosts to U. S. Minister and Mrs. Gibson. From The Tribune's Washington Bureau.

Ogden Reid Named Ohio Society Head At Annual Dinner

First Time Honor Has Been Given to Non-Native; Fess Says State-Supplied Leader to Aid World Readjustment

The thirty-sixth annual meeting and dinner of the Ohio Society of New York was held last night in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria. Ogden Reid, editor of The Tribune, was elected president, succeeding Benjamin B. Avery, Representative at Large, of Ohio, who was the principal speaker.

Other speakers were Mr. Reid, Mr. Avery, Henry W. Taft and the Rev. Dr. Edgar W. Work, rector of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, Ninety-eighth Street and West End Avenue.

Representative Fess said that Ohio's place in national affairs has ever been prominent, but never more so than now. He called attention to the fact that the President and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court are sons of Ohio.

Ohio Aids in World Reconstruction
"We have gone through the world's greatest convulsion," said the speaker. "It left the institutions of civilization demoralized, if not totally destroyed. The work of readjustment demands a real leader. Ohio has supplied this leader, and the action of the Senate yesterday completes a program conceived by the best brains of both Europe and America to be the greatest step for world peace in the history of the world."

Mr. Reid is the first member not a native of Ohio to be elected president of the society. In address he said that his father, Whitelaw Reid, had always been proud of the fact that he was a native Ohioan. Mr. Reid told of incidents in the life of his father, who was president of Ohio, and how Whitelaw Reid had met Abraham Lincoln.

In commenting upon his election to the presidency of the society Mr. Reid said: "Aside from the sentiment, I deem it a great honor and privilege to represent your organization as president for the next year to come."

Mr. Reid commented upon the dinner which is to be tendered by the society to President Harding next January.

Mr. Avery, in his retiring speech, said that the society was fortunate in having for its head the editor of "The New York Tribune."

There were about 300 persons present. Other officers elected last night were: Newton S. Gilbert, Thomas E. Livingston, Ernest F. Cook, Harry B. Lodge, Augustus F. Mack, vice-presidents; George E. Cook, secretary; Everts L. Francis, recording secretary; George E. Baker, treasurer; and Edward E. Gauche, Frank E. Watts, George W. Shurtliff and Charles A. Snyder, members of the board of trustees.

Woman's Orchestra Heard
The Woman's String Orchestra, under the direction of Sander Harmati, formerly of the Letz Quartet, gave its annual concert last night at Town Hall. The orchestra, directed by Sander Harmati, had heard in more than the mechanical details of the music offered, and played with due attention to niceties of interpretation. Rose Varady, cellist, and Lucie Schindler, violinist, were solo numbers, and a string quartet, composed of Isabel Rausch, Grace Baldwin, Lucie and Carrie Neidhardt, joined in a Beethoven string quartet, and numbers by Schubert, Liszt, Mendelssohn, Paganini and Paganini.

Preston Celebrates 25 Years of Service in Senate Press Gallery
WASHINGTON, March 25.—Jim Preston, major domo of the Washington press gallery, celebrated his twenty-fifth anniversary of his service in the Senate press gallery. Preston has handled press arrangements at all national and international conventions for two decades, besides supervising press arrangements for other events, including the recent arms conference. Over the years, he has been a member of the present Congress, and has been a Senator—Lodge, of Massachusetts, Warren, of Wyoming, and Nelson, of Minnesota—were in the Senate when Mr. Preston began his service.

Miss Peralta Appears as Queen in "Don Carlos"

Miss Gordon Takes Role of Princess; Florence Easton Sings in "L'Amore dei Tre Re"

Miss Peralta was heard as Elizabeth of Valois in "Don Carlos," a role formerly taken by Miss Rosa Ponselle. Although her voice has not the richness of her predecessor's, she gave a creditable performance, singing with intelligence and bearing herself with the dignity becoming a queen.

Miss Gordon made a marked impression as the Princess Eboli, first sung at this opera house by Mme. Tagliapietra. Miss Gordon was one of the "dainties" and emphasized the scorned woman's bitterness in an effective manner.

Mr. Martelli as Don Carlos, Mr. Didur as Philip II and Mr. De Luca as Don Rodrigo were also heard in the familiar roles.

Miss Easton appeared as Flora in the evening performance of "L'Amore dei Tre Re," in which she sang with intelligence and bearing herself with the dignity becoming a queen.

Montezuma's opera was preceded by "L'Oracolo," with Mr. Scotti, Mr. Harrold, Mr. Martino, Mr. d'Angelo and Mme. Sundelius in the chief parts.

Limited Held Up While Mayor Sought Mrs. Hyland
Taxi Driver Took Her to the Wrong Station for Trip to Chicago
Special Dispatch to The Tribune
CHICAGO, March 25.—Mayor John P. Hyland of New York paid his first visit to Chicago today. To-morrow he will address a Knights of Columbus dinner on the Senate ratification of the four power treaty.

"I'm here sort of unofficially," he told reporters. "My program is in the hands of these Knights of Columbus, and he made a smiling bow to the enthusiastic Chicago contingent."

The Mayor said the unemployment problem was working out fairly in New York. He said he was glad to see a building boom and provided much employment.

"We nearly lost Mrs. Hyland in New York before starting for Chicago," the Mayor continued, with a broad grin at his wife. "The taxi driver took her to the wrong station. They held the Twentieth Century ten minutes for us while I hunted her up. That had never happened before. I found her over at the Pennsylvania station all ready to take the Broadway Limited."

Hill Elected Head of New England Rotarians
HARTFORD, Conn., March 25.—Judge Robert W. Hill, president of the Salem, Mass., Rotary Club, was elected governor of the New England district of Rotarians today. He succeeded Herbert C. Wilson, of Worcester, the present district governor.

The sessions today brought the conference to a close. An address by Alfred C. Fuller, of this city, was followed by a business meeting. New London, Conn., was chosen for next year's conference.

"Any man who tries to force women into the labor market for the purpose of making money for himself is a criminal, and if he succeeds in doing it it will cost him money rather than make money for him," declared Mr. Hill. He scored employers who had attempted to settle industrial problems by conflict, and declared that arbitrary methods used by labor organizations and employers in their efforts to solve industrial problems were sure and positive means of continuing strife and discord.

More than six hundred Rotarians were at the conference, and William Hunt, of Torrington, Conn., secretary of the conference, reported forty-six of the forty-eight New England clubs represented.

Royal Phelps Carroll's Will Gives Widow Entire Estate
The will of Royal Phelps Carroll, yachtman, who died on February 7 last, has been admitted to probate in the Surrogate's Court yesterday. Mr. Carroll left all of his household effects, jewelry, horses and carriages, to his widow, Mrs. Marion Langdon Carroll, who also received a pension for life from the residue of her husband's estate.

The principal of the residuary estate is to go to the Royal Phelps Carroll Trust, a daughter, upon the death of her mother.

Charles Pope, Known as "Glucose King," Is Dead

Former Lighthouse Keeper Sold Illinois Plants in 1914 for $3,000,000

CHICAGO, March 25.—Charles Pope, once known as "the glucose king," and many times a millionaire, died today at his home here after a two-weeks illness of pneumonia.

Mr. Pope attracted considerable attention in 1914, when he sold his beet sugar refining plants at Geneva and Venice, Ill., to the Corn Products Refining Company for $2,000,000. The actual value of the plants was said at the time to have been less than $300,000, but the goodwill of the business resulted in the higher figure. As a result of this deal he was called as a witness in the anti-trust suit brought against the Corn Products Company.

Mr. Pope was born in March, England, in 1843, and came to Chicago when he was a small boy. His first permanent employment here was as a lighthouse keeper. From there he went to glucose and then into beet sugar. He is survived by his wife and five sons, all living in Chicago.

Emily H. Bourne, Active In Work for Blind, Dies
Gave $107,000 to Establish Shop Where 80 Afflicted Men Earn Livelihood

Miss Emily Howland Bourne, widely known for her philanthropic work, died at her home on Thursday after a brief illness.

Miss Bourne spent a large part of her life in the interest of the blind. In 1912 she gave $107,000 to carry on the work of the New York Association for the Blind. This money was used to establish the Bourne Workshop for the Blind at 338 E. Fifty-fifth Street, where today more than eighty blind men find an opportunity for self-support.

Miss Bourne aided in the founding of the museum at New Bedford to preserve the exhibits of the whaling industry of the nineteenth century. She also built a school for the famous Henry George Junior Republic in Franklin, N. Y.

MRS. ISABELLE LANCASTER
POUGHKEPSIE, N. Y., March 25.—Once known as the world's most famous bareback rider, Mrs. Isabelle Lancaster is dead here. For a long time she had been in want, but steadfastly refused to accept charity. She was about eighty-seven years old.

At the hospital where she died last night it was said her death was caused by pleuro-pneumonia, the result of long privation and lack of sufficient nourishment.

Half a century ago she was with the P. T. Barnum shows. She was born in Newburgh, N. Y.

MARTHA HASKELL CLARK
HANOVER, N. H., March 25.—Martha Haskell Clark, wife of Professor Eugene H. Clark, Secretary of Dartmouth College, died at the Mary Hitchcock Memorial Hospital last night after an operation for appendicitis. She was a member of the New Hampshire Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and was born in Minneapolis in 1885, the daughter of Colonel William E. Haskell, former publisher of "The Boston Herald," now vice-president of the International Paper Company.

GEORGE J. COSTIGAN
NEWTON, Mass., March 25.—The death of George J. Costigan, who was a member of the Massachusetts legislature to the North Pole in 1909, a veteran of the Spanish-American War, the Boxer uprising and the Philippine insurrection, became known today. He had been in a hospital here for a year and one-half suffering from the effects of gas poisoning contracted while employed at the Watertown Arsenal.
